Sir:

Teaching Social Studies and History in today's world demand the ability to know various shifting objectives. Across the Philippines and the world, teachers teaching Social Studies and History face common challenges that require a wide range of advanced skills. Today, some of our students are more traveled than the teachers; some of our students are richer than the teachers; some of our teachers are no longer abreast with the current trends and techniques in teaching a boring subject as they often say it. The ability to make a difference in teaching this subject will need collaboration with diverse experts and to form non-traditional alliances is essential. With the challenges in mass media, technology and internet, teachers need greater accountability and transparency, Social Studies teachers must adopt new analytical tools and techniques to gain a competitive edge.

To prepare teachers to address these challenges, Saceda Youth Lead with the National Commission for Culture and the Arts and the History and Political Science Department of Siliman University, will replicate the National Training for Teachers of Social Studies in your division on November 28-30, 2014 at the SYL Center, Candau-ay, Dumaguete City, with DepEd Advisory No. 361 dated October 3, 2014.

We hope that the Social Studies Teachers and other interested teachers will join in this replication training. We further hope that this event will forge personal relationships that enable lifelong professional opportunities and friendships thereby promoting peace and mutual understanding for the development of the self, family, community, and the nation-the most valuable legacy of Saceda Youth Lead experience.

Sincerely

NATIONAL TRAINING FOR TEACHERS TEACHING OF SOCIAL STUDIES
With DepEd Advisory No. 361, dated October 3, 2014

Target Participants:

All Teachers of AralingPanlipunan in the Division

Overview:

By attending this program, teachers will encounter a holistic approach to learning social studies and history, as they are encouraged to see their role in the context of today's ever changing, global environment. They will debate big issues – historical and current issues, – as they consider questions such as 'what does this mean for my future?' 'Why the past is necessary to determine a better and safer future?' and 'what does it mean for me as the leader for change?'

This training aims to re-energize the social studies teachers as one who leads and teaches others. Through exposure to new ideas, different viewpoints, challenging experiences and peer-to-peer learning they will resume your role refreshed, and with greater clarity of thought and vision.

Objectives:

This training examines the number of areas relating to social sciences including Strategies in Teaching Social Studies, Geography and Climate changes Philosophy and Psychology, Politics and political sociology, Sociology and Anthropology, Criminology and justice, Gender and women's studies etc. The program consists of inspiring keynote presentations, case studies, research presentations and interactive sessions by top researchers, scholars and professionals, industry leaders. Sessions will bring researchers from across the Philippines together to discuss broad questions of common interest and provide a platform to establish relationships with new colleagues.
